REGISTER TOMORROW

Government Determined to Prosecute All Those Who Attempt Evasion of Law.

All the arrangements for the registration of men between the ages of 21 and 31 in Alexandria have been completed, and the registrars will be at their respective posts tomorrow morning. The names of the registrars and places where they will be stationed have heretofore been published in the Gazette. It is believed that there will be a general response upon the part of all males who are eligible, and no trouble is anticipated by the authorities.

Numbers of young men who will be unavoidably absent from the city tomorrow have during the past few days been registered by the clerk of the court.

Adjutant General W .W. Sale, of Virginia, in speaking of the registration says:

"If the State prefers to take most of the idle young men, who spend their time around street corners, and leave all the skilled mechanics in the munition factories, surely it has the right to decide such questions on the basis of pubic safety.

"I believe the number of actual slackers is negligible. Most of our young men will fight well, if given a chance, and the room for individual action is small in modern war. It is a question of the machine and the younger element is more adaptable and malleable.

"It is, of course, understood that no matter what exemption a man may claim, he must register just the same. His religious scruples will not help him if he declines to register. The penalty is one year's imprisonment. There is no option of fine, one of the few laws of the sort that I have ever known.

"The government is not disposed to show mercy to those who trifle with this law. While not technically treason and not quite on a parity with desertion before the enemy, to try evasion or neglect of the conscription amounts to about the same thing. It lends comfort and aid to the enemy. We must assume that those who oppose the law realize that.

"I advise, therefore, all those subject to conscription to act promptly. We can attend to exemption afterward. If called away on that day, arrange for registration before leaving. The government needs every fighting man at the age required, unless a more imperative service intervenes. Those who try to hold back others or willfully neglect to register will receive the full penalty."

Yesterday was an inspiring day as well as an eventful one in the history of the Emmanuel Bible Class of Christ Church, of which Judge Louis C. Barley is teacher. At least five hundred men, if not more, were at the church at nine o'clock in the morning to listen to the address given by Rev. Gypsy Smith. Large numbers of the members of the Bible Classes from the various other churches in the city were in attendance, the singing was led by a choir of male voices and the service was of a most interesting and effective character throughout. Mr. Smith spoke on "What Lifts Me Higher Than Myself," and held the attention of his audience from the opening to the close of his address. In response to the invitation to those who were not professors of religion to go forward and start in the better life. thirteen responded and went to the altar and took his hand. GARDEN PARTY.

Successful Entertainment for Benefit of the Red Cross.

The garden party given by Mrs. Mauchlin Niven Saturday at her home, Burnt Oak, Braddock Heights, for the benefit of the refreshment corps of the Red Cross was a most enjoyable affair, notwithstanding the inclement weather. Mrs. Boardman, Miss Babel Boardman and Mrs. Larz Anderson were present, the latter with her field kitchen, from which the coffee was served. The members of the refreshment corps, from Washington and Alexandria were most attractive in their uniforms.

Two of the most attractive features of the evening were the rythmic dances by little Misses Marguerite Bogue, Gertrude Haines, Katie Minassias and Myrtle Towers, of Washington, pupils of Mrs. L. J. Bogue, and Misses Josephine Ramage, Elizabeth Ramage and Rosella Burke, of Alexandria, in a "Waltz Fantastiue." Vocal solo's were rendered by R. Woodland Gates, of Washington, accompanied by Miss Mildred Rider. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Carter, of Green Spring Valley, with their house guests, the five convalescent Canadian officers. The Boy Scouts rendered able assistance in directing the visitors to the place and attending to parking cars. The place was a bower of flowers and on the porch trellis roses were entwined to add to the beauty of the scene.

TOMORROW NIGHT'S SERVICES.

Every Resident of the City is Urged To Attend the Patriotic Consecrational Service in Some Church.

NONAGENARIAN DIES

Edmund Hunt Passed Away Last Night in the Ninety-Fifth Year of His Age.

Edmund Hunt, probably the oldest man in the section of Virginia, died at "Cameron," now a part of Alexandria, yesterday. His funeral will take place tomorrow at 11 a. m.

The deceased was born in Brownsville, Pa., November 4, 1822. He came to this city in 1850, two years after the late R. F. Roberts removed here from Morsetown, N. J. The latter married Mr. Hunt's sister. Mr. Hunt and Mr. Roberts soon formed a partnership, and for many years they operated "Cameron Mills," where much of the corn meal used in Alexandria at that time was ground. They also ground wheat, and the flour which came from Cameron Mills stood high in the market. Many of our older residents will remember Lewis Casey, the trusty colored man, who had charge of the wagon from which meal from Cameron Mills was delivered at stores and private houses. He was a middle-aged bright mulatto, had curly hair, and, according to the custom in those days he wore earrings.

The Alexandria Water Company was chartered about the time Messrs. Hunt and Roberts came to Virginia, and Benjamin Hallowell, the first President, concluded that Cameron water should be introduced into Alexandria through the mill race. Several plans had previously been proposed, one being to make the Alexandria Canal the watershed, and another to construct pools at several places. The mill race was used as feeder for the mill and the reservoir for several years, but it was subsequently determined to use steam in the mills in order to allow the Water Company to have full use of the race. The mills are not operated at present, nor have they been for some time.

Mr. Hunt was a popular citizen, and he had many friends and acquaintances. He was, however, but little known to the present generation, as for years he had been confined to his home, burdened by the weight of years. He had for a long time been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South.

MISSION CLOSED.

Capacity Audience in Attendance at Services at St. Mary's Catholic Church Last Night.

One of the most successful missions ever held in St. Mary's Catholic Church was the men's mission conducted by Rev. Fathers McGivney and Delihant, S. J., of South Norwalk, Conn., which came to a close last night after being in progress a week.

The congregation which attended last night filled the church to its capacity and the services were of a most impressive character. Rev. Father McGivney preached an eloquent sermon on "Perservance."

Following the sermon there was benediction of the blessed sacrament. These services were conductd by Rev. Father McGivney and Fathers Smet and Kelly, the last named two pastor and assistant pastor respectively.

Following the benediction came the procession of the blessed sacrament which was an inspiring sight. One hundred little girls, each dressed in white and carrying flowers, led the procession, and then came the three priests and a dozen acolytes marching through the church, Rev. Father Kelly carrying the sacred host.

At the conclusion of the sermon the men of the parish, who occupied the two center aisles of the church, renewed their baptismal vows. Each held a lighted candle in his hand and repeated the vows with the priest.

More than 100 men were also received in the Holy Name Society at the services last night.

At the 7 o'clock mass in the church yesterday morning practically every man in the parish attended Holy Communion in a body, occupying the two main aisles of the church.

Rev. Father McGivney in the course of his sermon last night took occasion to compliment the men on the splendid showing made by them during the progress of the mission.

CONFEDERATES GATHER

Many Alexandrians Visit Arlington Yesterday Afternoon to Witness Memorial Services.

The national capital in wartime throws open its arms this week to welcome the survivors of the Confederate Army which sought to capture it more than half a century ago. Gray clad veterans of the great war between the States march up Pennsylvania avenue next Thursday morning through a court of honor and pass the White House, in front of which they will be reviewed by the President of the United States.

For the first time since the formation of the United Confederate Veterans their annual reunion, the twenty-seventh, is held outside what were the Confederate states. The Confederate Southern Memorial Asiciation, the United Daughters of the Confederacy and the Sons of Confederate Veterans hold their conventions simultaneously.

Although the reunion actually began today, thousands of veterans arrived yesterday in time to participate in the memorial exercises in the Confederate section at Arlington National Cemetery, where the unveiling of a Southern Cross, the gift of Camp 305, Sons of Confederate Veterans, was on the program.

President Wilson and Mrs. Wilson attended the services and received an ovation from the old soldiers. The exercises, held in the shadow of the monument erected to the Confederate dead by the Southern women, were opened with the sound of the assembly call by the Marine Band and the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by a choir the old soldiers and the audience helping to swell the refrain.

Flowers were strewn on the graves, and special services were held at the tomb of the unknown dead and the grave of Gen. Joe Wheeler.

Gen. Bennett H. Young, past commander in chief of the veterans, and Representative Frank Clark, of Florida, were the orators.

The Rev. Dr. Randolph H. McKim, chaplain of Camp 171 of the Distric tof Columbia, offered a prayer for the thousands of American boys now preparing to go in the trenches of France, and made frequent allusions to the part that "with the grace of God America will play in the world war."

VALUABLE CATCH.

Alexandrians Net a 250-Pound Sturgeon Near This City Last Night.

George Phillips and Richard Greenwood, captured a sturgeon near this city last night which weighed 250 pounds, for which they received $27 in Washington. The fish was sold minus the spawn, which is valuable at this day, it being used in the preparation of caviare, which enters into high-priced sandwiches. A box of the size of a blacking box sells for fifty cents. The roe filled a wash-tub half full. The fish was 7 feet 9 inches in length.

The wholesale price of sturgeon is 19 cents a pound. It has recently retailed for 25 cents. Many now living in Alexandria will recall the time when a large sturgeon could be bought for 50 cents. The roe was thrown overboard, or used as bait for drop nets or bait by anglers.

Sturgeon was known on the Hudson river as "Albany beef." In Alexandria it retailed at from 3 to 4 cents a pound. They were at times used as fuel on western steamboats.

MUST BE NO SLACKERS.

The Gazette last week quoted from a sonnet sung in Alexandria by negro minstrels during the civil war, and suggested that the wisdom of an ode, referring to the negro was apparent. We are now upon the eve of registration day, and the following from another ode of war times is especially applicable at this time:

'Twas in the days of seventy-six,
When freemen, young and old,
Fought for independence,
Like warriors true and bold.
'Twas then the glorious Stars and Stripes
In triumph did appear,
Defend it now, ye patriots,
Like American volunteers.

The above is slightly changed from the song of 1861 to make it applicable to 1917. It is hoped that all eligibles for registration will perform a duty they owe their country at a time when the foundations of Liberty are menaced by an autocracy which has brought the civilized world to arms.

Tomorrow is the day for enrollment for the National Selective Draft, under the President's proclamation of May 18 last.

Every man within the prescribed age limits of 21 to 30 years, inclusive, must register. There will be no exemptions on account of race or nationality, for citizens or aliens. Aliens and citizens must enroll; negroes and Chinamen as well as whites.

The only exceptions are for members of the Army or Naval service or the Marine Corps; members of the National Guard or Naval Militia, while in active service of the United States; members of the Officers' Reserve Corps, and for members of the Enlisted Service Corps in active service.

The penalty for failure to comply with the law is one year's imprisonment. No excuses will be accepted; ignorance will not be a defense. Anyone hindering or attempting to hinder the enrollment of somebody else obliged to enroll will be subject to the same penalty.

Those conspiring to defeat the registration law will be more severely dealt with. They will be classed as national enemies and the punishment will fit the offense. The least move in either direction, toward anti-draft conspiracy or hindering a man subject to the registration from enrolling, will be the signal for arrest.

GREAT AND UNITED COUNTRY.

Probably for the first time in history, Confederate battle flags are flying in great numbers over Washington and, in places where for several weeks they have floated alongside the colors of France, Great Britain, Italy and the other Allies, more than one puzzled spectator has had to "brush up" to determine the identity of the "new ally."

The veterans will camp upon the great Union Station plaza and Congress, working almost frantically to speed up measures of national defense, need only look out its windows to see a once hostile army bivouacked almost in the shadows of the national capitol.

Grand Army men recalled the contrast between the multitude of Confederate gray uniforms to be seen on the streets and the days of the Civil War when the capital was thrown into panicky apprehension six times by reports of Gen. Lee's victories.

The Washington Herald in speaking of the reunion says:

The true aristocracy of Dixie is come to us. The remnants of the glorious gray line that fought with Lee and Jackson, Longstreet and Beauregard are marching upon us, heads erect, step firm, their pride as unconquerable as ever. They march under that flag which once they spilled their blood to cast out from the treasured land below Mason and Dixon's line. They march under the Stars and Stripes. The nation now shares in the pride of the South in the brilliancy and gallantry with which the Confederate cause was defended; it regards it as a legitimate and glorious part of the American tradition. These gray veterans that are now among us do not belong to the South; they belong to the nation. Welcome, thrice welcome, sons of the Confederacy! May you clasp hands with many an ancient foe during your stay here, and may you feel that Washington is "home" today and all the days that you remain among us.

The scenes at Arlington yesterday afternoon were calculated to disturb the shades of a number of radical Congressmen who half a century ago were clamoring for the blood of Jefferson Davis. Horace Greeley, one of the fathers of the Republican party had announced his intention of becoming security for Mr. Davis, at that time a prisoner at Fortress Monroe. This was brought against the famous New York editor when he was a candidate for President in 1872. But times have changed and people have changed with them. The present generation had gathered to do honor to the memory of deceased Confederates, and the occasion was the birthday of Jefferson Davis, President of the late Southern Confederacy. Many Alexandrias were present, and to those whose memories carried them back to war times and the years that followed the close of the conflict could hardly realize that the anniversary of the birth of the first and only President of the Southern Confederacy was being celebrated under the shadow of the national capitol, where the flags of the late Confederacy were fluttering in the wind.

EVIL COLOSSUS OF THE AGES.

A writer recently drew the following picture of the Kaiser, who is bathing the world in human gore in order to obtain his purposes:

There stands the kaiser. Behold in him the tyrannical administrative genius of Caesar, the unscrupulous brutality of Nero and Caligula, issuing the bloody edict of imperial Rome. Behold in him the religious fanaticism of Mahomet despatching his soldiers to spread the culture of the crescent to the Christian nations of Europe. Behold in him the vanity and vain-glorious conquests of Louis XIV commanding his generals, the bigotry and bloody leadership of his ancestor, Frederick, defying the armies of Europe. Behold in him the bloody ambition and Herculean efforts of Bonaparte subjugating the world. Behold in this man—this incarnate monster of the accursed creed of blood and iron—the strength and infamy of the bloody heroes of history. Because of his genius for organized evil, Belgium is butchered, England goes to war, France pours out her blood in torrents, Serbia and Roumania are destroyed, Russia sinks into revolution and anarchy, while the assassins of the deep steal across the Atlantic to wreck destruction at the entrance to the harbors of far-away America, vainly struggling to avoid his bloody snares. Men from widely separated Canada and Australia give up their homes and bid farewell to their mothers forever, to meet and die in the trenches of death. Ethiopians cut each others throats in the deserts of Africa the Armenian race is slaughtered at the head waters of the Tigris and Euphrates, the heathen Hindoo the Japs and the Chinese offer up their lives along with the Christian Caucasians.

Yet, there stands the kaiser, the world's colossal figure of organized infamy and military force—undefeated, scornful, defiant of outraged mankind and the nations of the earth in arms against him.

And it is for the purpose of freeing the world from this monster and protecting our beloved America that the registration of men within certain ages has become necessary. This brutal Minotaur would treat the United States as he did Belgium should his dreams crystalize.

A short service will be held here in the Gypsy Smith tabernacle with addresses by prominent members of the visiting delegation and patriotic music by 400 school children of the Manassas public schools. Luncheon will be served by members of Manassas and Bull Run Chapters, United Daughters of the Confederacy, after which veterans and other visitors will be taken by automobile to the battle field a few miles away.

The arrangements for the reception are in charge of a committee composed of Lieutenant George C. Round, Westwood Hutchinson, Judge J .B. T. Thornton, Mayor W. C. Wagener, Charles R. McDonald and C. J. Meetz. The committee will be assisted by members of Ewell Camp, Confederate Veterans; Manassas Picket Post, Grand Army of the Republic; Manassas and Bull Run Chapters, United Daughters of the Confederacy and Sons of Veterans.

WELCOME TO VETERANS

(Henry A. Beach, veteran of Company G. 48th New York Infantry, and known as "the poet of the pension bureau," has written the following poem of welcome to the Confederate Veterans who are holding their reunion in Washington this week.)

With pleasure I greet you as comrades today,
You men of the Southland who once wore the gray;
There are some things, perhaps, that we ought to forget,
But we all must remember those times when we met—
When we met face to face, when we met breast to breast
And passed the ordeal of wars fiery test.
Midst rattling of shot and bursting of shell
We learned on those fields "War is hell, war is hell."
But you gave us as good as we gave, blow for blow,
And each foeman soon gained some respect for his foe.
And all of us felt the war's terrible cost,
Both the army that won and the army that lost.
Through everglade swamp and on red battle plain,
Many heroes went forth who came not again;
Vacant chairs at the fireside, far sadder than words,
Told the sorrows that followed the clashing of swords.
But brotherly love now unites heart to heart,
With the sword and the bayonet once thrust apart.
And where hatred once reigned now friendship holds sway,
And we clasp hands as brothers, the Blue and the Gray.
The North and the South in our trouble with Spain
Stood shoulder to shoulder, united again.
And now, my dear comrades, we welcome you here;
May you have a good time and the best of good cheer.
You sought to take Washington long years ago.
We were not then quite ready, and would not have it so:
But now, if you want it, just take it along,
Take it in picture and take in song.
Take in its beauty and long may it fill,
Your hearts with the pleasure of memory's thrill;
Take all our parks, take all that you see;
The city is yours, and we hand you the key.
Not only the city, its spires and its domes,
But we open to you our hearts and our homes.
And now there is one thing more I would say,
As we stand here together, the Blue and the Gray,
There are battles at hand we together must fight,
The battles for progress, the battles for right;
Let us make the world better through brotherly love,
'Till we all answer "Here" to the roll call above.

GERMAN PLAN FAILS

Venezeula Promises U. S. She Will Not Sell Coveted Island.

Germany's plot to plant foot of empire on American soil has failed utterly. Her attempt to straddle the Atlantic and establish a submarine base off the coast of Venezeuela for raids on American shipping has come to naught after months of underground intrigue and labor.

Disclosure of the plot whereby German government agents were attempting to get hold of the island of Margarita, off the northern coast of Venezuela, was followed yesterday by the news that American representations to P resident Gomez, of Venezuela, had brought the attempt to a sorry ending.

The propaganda, developed after work of months in Venezuela, has been offset, and Venezuela has given official assurance to the United States that island will not be sold and that no concessions of any character whatever will be granted to Germans or their representatives.

Senor Don Santos A. Dominici, Venezuelan Minister here, last night issued the following statement:

"I am authorized by my government to say that Venezuela will never sell or concede an inch of her soil to any foreign government, especially Germany.

"I am further authorized to declare that the attitude of the Venezuelan government in its present neutrality is that of the greatest friendship to the United States.

"Venezuela will never do anything to endanger in the slightest the friendly relations she enjoys with the United States."

IN GRASP OF SHARK.

Son of Savannah Mayor May Lose Arm as Result of Bite.

Savannah, Ga., June 4.—Wallace J. Pierpont, Jr., son of Mayor Pierpont, was attacked by a shark in the waters of Galibouga Sound yesterday afternoon while he was out with his wife and children. The shark closed its jaws on Mr. Pierpont's right arm, and lamost severed it. Mrs. Pierpont saved her husband's life.

He had stopped the boat, a speedy racer, in what he supposed was shallow water, to take the children in bathing. Taking the painter he jumped overboard. The water was deep, and he went down. At that moment Mrs. Pierpont saw the shark appear over where her husband had dived, and as Mr. Pierpont swam back to the surf the fish flopped on its back, and closed its jaws on his arm below the shoulder.

Both disappeared and a moment later the water was bloody.

Mrs. Pierpont pulled in the painter with all her strength, which brought her husband to the top, and she helped him to crawl into the boat, with his right arm dangling from the shoulder. They were nearly 40 miles from Savannah when the accident occurred. Mrs. Pierpont made bandages of her skirt nad tied the torn arm, then she started the motor and raced the boat toward Tybee. Ten miles in they came to the pilot boat, where they took on a man who brought the boat to Savannah, 35 miles, in an hour and fifteen minutes.

Mr. Pierpont was hurried to the Oglethrope sanitarium, where an operation was performed. It was not known last night whether the arm could be saved.

CRIMES COMMITTED IN NAME OF LIBERTY

(Richmond Journal)

Curious how insistent become the "dictates of conscience" on occasions. One of the delegates to the "confenence for democracy and terms of peace" announced that he would lose his liberty rather than violate the dictates of his conscience in the matter of military service. Noble man! His courage is remindful of the abnegating siprit of the late Artemus Ward, who was willing to sacrifice all his wife's relations in the war between the states. These blatant patriots who rail against the constituted law in the nabe of liberty overlook the fact that unless the war is prosecuted vigorously and successfully the only liberty vouchsafed to the defeated nation will be the brand approved by Kaiser Wilhelm. Madame Roland at the foot of the scaffold is credited with exclaiming, "O. Liberty! Liberty! how many crimes are committed in thy name!" No greater crime at this time against the liberties of freeborn Americans can be committed than to do aught to jeopardize their sacred rights. Every person who seeks by example or precept to discourage registration under the law is a traitor to his country and a menace to posterity. The will of the majority has been expressed in congress by the representatives of a sovereign people; they are the real government, wholly different in this respect from the imperial government of Germany, which in no sense is reflective of the will of the masses. The Goldmans, the Bergmans, the Bergers and other un-Americans, who have enjoyed the rights and privileges accorded all foreigners who seek asylum in this country, prove rank ingrates when they refuse to obey the law imposed upon them by an overwhelming ruling majority. Morever, they show themselves incapable of accepting the fundamental American doctrine of oberience of the individual to the multitude. It is gratifying to note that the department of justice is taking prompt and drastic steps to compel adherence to the law by sternly repressing the inclination of recalcitrants to go contrary. The temper of the people is thoroughly aroused to the necessity of exacting stern reprisals and will tolerate no mollycoddling of unfaithful citizens.
